THATCamp SouthEast

The Humanities and Technology Camp

Join us at THATCamp Southeast!

An unconference for anyone interested in the intersection of humanities and technology

March 4–6, 2011
Emory University, Atlanta

The Humanities and Technology Camp (THATCamp) is a user-generated "unconference" in the digital humanities. Rather than conforming to a pre-set program, paticipants agree on sessions at the beginning of the Camp. This format allows THATCamp participants a unique opportunity to share their knowledge and collaborate face-to-face with fellow enthusiasts.

It's free to participate, but space is limited to 100 attendees. You can find the brief application at http://southeast2011.thatcamp.org/.

Apply now! Applications are due January 9, 2011
